Leaves Examples of His Work in Many Costly New York Homes.

KNOWN IN ART WORLD

Georges A. Glaenzer, well known in artistic circles, died yesterday at his home, 5 West Eighty-second street, after a long illness. He was 67 years old.

Mr. Glaenzer was born in Paris and was educated in the universities of Paris and Stuttgart. He studied art abroad. He served through the Franco-Prussian war in the French army. In 1876 he was a member of the French commission to the Centennial in Philadelphia. He was secretary of the French commission to raise funds for the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty and was a founder of the National School of Decorative Art in

In 1880 Mr. Glaenzer came to this country to live and sold his large col-lection of objects of art at 41 East Twentieth street, where he conducted a dec-orating business. He did work for Frederick W. Vanderbilt, John D. Archbold, Charles B. Alexander, George F. Baker and many other prominent men. He retired some years ago. He was a former member of the Architectural League of America, the Municipal Art Commission, the Academy of Design and many clubs, among them the Players the Lambs and the Larchmont Yacht. Mr. Glaenzer married Miss Alice Cary Butler, daughter of Richard Butler of York. Mrs. Glaenzer and three sons, Richard B., Jules and Georges B. Glaenszer, and a brother, Eugene Glaenzer survive him. The funeral will be private.
